

Angélique Bouchés et Eloise Caporal-Ebersold

From Home to the Crèche: Motivations Behind Parents' Language Policies

Eloise Caporal-Ebersold is a doctoral student in Linguistics at the University of Strasbourg (UDS). An experienced educator, she previously taught in the Philippines and in the United States before permanently migrating to France where she teaches English at the ESPE, UDS (Ecole Supérieure du Professorat et de l'Éducation). Her research and teaching interests include multilingualism, bilingual education, language policy in Early Childhood Education and Care (ECEC) and English as second and foreign language.

CAPORAL-EBERSOLD, E. & YOUNG, A. (forthcoming), "Negotiating and appropriating the "one person one language" policy within the complex reality of a multilingual crèche in Strasbourg", in D. Mehmedbegovic (ed), Learning in Global and Cosmopolitan Cities, London Review of Education Journal.

CAPORAL-EBERSOLD, E., HÉLOT, C. & YOUNG, A. (2015), "City Report of the multilingual situation of Strasbourg, France", in LUCIDE (Languages in Urban Communities : Integration and Diversity for Europe) European Commission Lifelong Learning Program, 2012-15. (en ligne). <http://www.urbanlanguages.eu/images/stories/docs/city-reports/Strasbourg.pdf>

CAPORAL, E. (2003). "Critical Thinking Strategies in Developing High-Order Thinking Skills of Students in Literature 2." Southeastern Philippines Journal of Research and Development. Vol. XI No. 2, ISSN 0117-6293. January – June 2003.

Angélique Bouchés est doctorante en Sciences du Langage à l'Université de Strasbourg (EA 1339 GEPE-LiLPa). Ses recherches portent sur les politiques linguistiques familiales et le cas de l'anglais dans les familles francophones en France. Elle est également professeur d'anglais à l'ENSTIB, Université de Lorraine.

BOUCHÉS-RÉMOND-RÉMONT, A. (2015). "Family language policy and the English language in francophone families in France: A focus on parents' reasons as decision-takers" (205-220). In Multilingualism and mobility in Europe : policies and practices. Frankfurt am Main : Peter Lang

BOUCHÉS-RÉMOND-RÉMONT, A. (2016). "Le jeu...mais pas la règle du jeu?" (69-84). In Education plurilingue: contextes, représentations, pratiques. Paris: Orizons.