

Interested in becoming a Primary German Language Assistant in England? Exciting new opportunity available!

Friends of Latymer All Saints CE Primary School,

Latymer All Saints School in Enfield, London is a multi-cultural and multi-faith school with a caring and supportive ethos. It is an Anglican high achieving school, with well behaved children. There are many interesting projects going on there such as work for the international schools award, the science gold quality mark together with sports and events held for the whole school community.

The school has already got links with France but is now looking for a German Language Assistant from February-May 2017. This could suit someone who wants to do their SPS II abroad (primary students) or someone who wants to build up their teaching experience and language skills on an extra internship.

You would be expected to involve yourself with the life of the school as directed by the staff and would be involved in teaching groups/classes in school as well as social duties. You should be a good ambassador for the German culture and language in addition. You would be well supported by the staff at the school. To support your internship you would be able to apply for an Erasmus plus grant.

If you are interested, please contact Mrs Veneziano as soon as possible. Your eventual application must be in English and include the following:

- Letter of motivation
- Curriculum Vitae
- Written reference in English by a university tutor you know
