Winter Entertainments in Anatolia, Turkey Stories on Time and Tradition

„Anatolia... A patchwork of cultures... stories... entertainments...
Like a carpet woven into one...

Storytelling is a colorful and affluent tradition performed for different audiences on different occasions. A storyteller told me once: "Stories make the times pass faster!"

Is it really so? Is it true that stories make the time pass faster?

The talk will tour around different storytelling genres in Anatolia with a special focus on winter entertainments and highlight how stories and their characters persisted through time, yet their storyteller told their stories each time anew and afresh."

Goethe Welcome Centre proudly presents a talk by Prof. Dr. Hande Birkalan-Gedik.
The event will take place on 15th of December, 7 p.m. online via Zoom.

Prof. Dr. Hande Birkalan-Gedik is Professor at the Institute for Cultural Anthropology and European Ethnology (Institut für Kulturanthropologie und Europäische Ethnologie) at Goethe University.

The talk will be open for both international scholars at Goethe University and the public.
